

THE EVENING BULLETIN

DAILY, EXCEPT SUNDAY,
ROSSER & MCCARTHY,
Proprietors.

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 19, 1890

RAILROAD SCHEDULE.

CINCINNATI DIVISION CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO.
Due East.	Due West.
No. 32.....12:15 a. m.	No. 31.....4:10 a. m.
No. 2.....10:34 a. m.	No. 1.....6:37 a. m.
No. 12.....6:40 p. m.	No. 11.....8:00 a. m.
No. 4.....2:25 p. m.	No. 3.....8:10 p. m.

Nos. 31 and 32 are mixed trains, Nos. 11 and 12 the Ironton accommodation, Nos. 1 and 2 the Washington, Baltimore and New York and Old Point Comfort express, and Nos. 3 and 4 the F. V. All daily except Nos. 11 and 12. Direct connection at Central depot, Cincinnati, for all points West and South.

MAYSVILLE DIVISION KENTUCKY CENTRAL.
Arrive.....10:25 a. m. 8:10 p. m.
Depart.....5:15 a. m. 1:50 p. m.
All trains daily except Sunday.
Add twenty-six minutes to get city time.

INDICATIONS—Colder, fair weather, north-westerly winds; cold wave.

"MOUNTAIN BOY."

CLEVELAND'S big minstrels to-night.

FRESH fish every day, at Martin Bros'.

CANNED berries, 3 for 25 cents, at Calhoun's.

COLLARS laundered at 20c. per dozen, at Burdett's. 15d6t

PAPER hanging and decoration done by Greenwood. 117d1m.

INSURE your property with Duley & Baldwin, agents.

MR. J. POLLOCK has opened his fancy grocery in the Cox Building.

D. HUNT & SON'S white goods display is drawing large crowds of ladies.

Those who desire safe and profitable life insurance should call on L. W. Galbraith.

It's a mighty cold day when the politicians can't get up a hot fight over the offices at Lexington.

JAMES L. THACKSTONE, of Minerva, is another individual whose name has been added to the pension roll.

REV. J. E. WRIGHT asks us to announce that the meeting at Mitchell's Chapel, Chester, has been postponed.

JUDGE COLE and Commonwealth's Attorney Saltee came down from Flemingsburg yesterday to attend the funeral of Mr. S. S. Riley.

DR. FRAZER has introduced an act in the Legislature to amend the charter of the Farmers' Home Mutual Aid Association of this county.

MR. HARRY SHERMAN has rented the rooms lately vacated by Miss Ella Rist and will open out a stock of boots, shoes, hats and caps in a few days.

L. G. AUXIER, formerly of Tollesboro, has bought the interest of E. W. Donham in the wholesale grocery house of Donham, Ryland & Auxier, of Cincinnati.

It will pay to call at McKrell's store and see the great bargains he is offering in dry goods. It is not often that goods are offered so low. See his advertisement.

REPRESENTATIVE BLACKBERRY, of Bracken, has introduced a bill in the Legislature to regulate voting at primary elections in that county and prevent fraud therein.

PARLOR GROVE, a summer resort a few miles above Cincinnati, is to be sold soon to satisfy a judgment of Levi C. Goodale, of that city, for $52,643. It is worth about $7,000.

BALLENGER, the jeweler, has postponed the raffle of that $400 diamond until March 8th. In the meantime he will give a ticket with every dollar paid on account and on every dollar's worth of goods bought.

CARL C. RICHMOND, of this city, escaped from the jail at Batavia, O., Monday night, where he was awaiting sentence for stealing a lot of wool at New Richmond. He and his pal, Henry Adams, pleaded guilty Monday.

FARMERS—The Frank Owens Hardware Company keeps constantly on hand a big stock of fencing wire—barbed, plain annealed and plain galvanized, all of the best make. Call at this old and popular establishment when you want wire.

AT Cincinnati Monday, William C. Durand, a wealthy business man of Chattanooga, Tenn., was united in marriage to Miss Maude Blanche Root, of Utica, N. Y. The groom is a son of Mrs. F. M. Durand, who resided on West Third street, this city, some years ago.

THE attorneys of Tom O'Brien, the slayer of Bettie Shea, at Lexington, have gone to Washington to appeal the case to the Supreme Court of the United States. The petition will be presented before Judge Harlan upon a writ of error paying for a reversal of the decision of the State courts. The records of this celebrated case contain three hundred pages.

BEATEN TO DEATH.

Particulars of the Horrible Homicide Committed in Charleston Bottom.

Broshear's Skull Crushed With a Club and Shovel. He Survived But a Short Time.

Thomas A. Broshear's one of the best citizens of Mason County, met with a horrible death yesterday morning at his tobacco warehouse in Charleston Bottom.

Brief and incomplete details of the deplorable affair were given in yesterday's issue, but at the time the BULLETIN went to press it was not known that the affray had proved so terribly fatal.

The warehouse is situated within a hundred yards or so of Broshear's Station, on the C. & O. Railroad, and at what has been known for years as Broshear's Landing, once a prominent shipping-point.

When Drs. Strode and Browning arrived on the scene, in response to the hasty summons, they found Broshear's insensible. He was in a dying condition. Life was fast ebbing away as a result of the terrible wounds he had received. It was a case where medical skill was of no avail, and fifteen minutes after their arrival the spirit had taken its flight, and he, who an hour or so before was a strong, robust man, was now stretched out before them a corpse.

The face and head were beaten and bruised in a ghastly manner, and the examination made showed even more ghastly wounds. There were terrible fractures of the skull, the frontal bones and those at the side being crushed and broken into a mass—"beaten almost into a jelly." With such wounds it is remarkable that the man survived as long as he did. There were no cuts or injuries on his body, his slayers seemingly having aimed their murderous blows only at his head.

It is always a difficult matter to get at the exact facts in such a deplorable affair as this. Broshear was insensible when his friends reached him and died without uttering a word. His lips were sealed in death without opportunity of uttering their version of the affray. No one was present but the participants, Gus Sullivan, his son, Sam, (aged nineteen or twenty years), and Broshear. George Vertner, colored, and Ollie Griffith were only a few feet away, but were on the outside of the building and did not see the commencement, nor did they see the fatal blows dealt. Their account is substantially as follows: They were assisting Broshear in rolling several hogheads of tobacco out of the building preparatory to shipping it on the steamer to Cincinnati. Sullivan, accompanied by his son, called to see about selling some old tobacco at Cincinnati in which he and Broshear were both interested. After some other conversation about it, Broshear said to the elder Sullivan: "I understand you have been telling that I had been offered 11 cents for this tobacco and that I wouldn't sell it. If you have told such a story, you told a lie." This was while Griffith and Vertner were present. The two latter started to roll a hoghead from the door to the corner of the house, and left Broshear standing near the center of the room, with the Sullivans a few feet distant from him and on different sides. It was not a minute's work to roll the hoghead to the point designated. When Griffith returned to the door, he saw Broshear lying on the floor, with Gus Sullivan on top holding him and his son standing over him with a heavy spade in hand. Broshear was apparently insensible, but young Sullivan raised the spade and was in the act of striking another blow, when Griffith called to him and stopped him. When Griffith and Vertner came up, young Sullivan said to his father: "Come on and let's get away from here." "I want my knife first," was the answer, and the elder Sullivan turned the body over as if looking for the weapon. Young Sullivan repeated his remark. "Well, I guess he has got enough," was his father's reply, and the two hurried away.

Such is Griffith and Vertner's account of the affray, as developed at the Coroner's inquest yesterday afternoon, held by 'Equire Viceroy. The two were not out of view of the parties more than a minute, yet in that time Broshear had received the deadly blows. It is the belief of his friends that he was knocked insensible at the first blow, and was then beaten to death.

His slayers hurried to town. Near the furniture factory, they met Sheriff Alexander, and surrendered to him. They were taken before Judge Coons, who committed them to jail to await their examining trial, which is set for to-morrow at 2 p. m.

A representative of the BULLETIN accompanied Dr. Strode and Mr. Jacob Wormald to the jail yesterday afternoon. To the inquiry, "How did all this happen?" Gus Sullivan replied:

"He called me a g—d—m lying s—n of h—h, and struck me on the head with a stick. I ducked my head and ran in under him and knocked him down. He sent for me to see about the tobacco. I didn't go there for a fuss. He asked me what I had done with the pike. I saw he was in a bad humor and said to Sam let's leave and go and look at the land. I was thinking about renting some ground in the neighborhood from Dr. Shackelford, and was to let him know in a day or so."

In answer to the question what he struck Broshear with he said: "Only with my fists." When told that Broshear was dead he said: "Well, I am sorry for it. I didn't have anything against him. Tom Broshear was an overbearing man. I don't know what the people of Charleston Bottom have against me."

During the conversation young Sullivan also stated that Broshear called his father a g—d—n, old-whiskered, lying s—n of b—h; that Broshear struck at him (Sam) with a spick, but he threw up his arm and was not hurt; that after this he didn't know exactly what did take place.

The elder Sullivan has a cut on the left forehead about two inches long, where he says Broshear struck him with a stick. Such are the particulars of this terrible tragedy as far as learned. None stood higher in the community than Broshear. He had always been regarded as one of the quietest, most peaceable, orderly and law-abiding citizens in the county. He was a man of sobriety and integrity, a thorough-going, straight-forward business man, the soul of honor, a man who would disdain to take unfair advantage of any one, and who never intermeddled with other people's affairs. He was esteemed and respected wherever known, and his friends and neighbors are terribly wrought up over his awful death. He belonged to one of the old families of the county. His father, Middleton Broshear, died some years ago and his mother last fall. He was about fifty years of age, and unmarried. Four brothers and two sisters survive him. His remains will be interred to-morrow morning, at the burying-ground in Charleston Bottom, after funeral services at the family residence at 10 o'clock by Rev. J. E. Wright, of this city.

The deceased was an ex-Confederate. He went in at the commencement of the war, and was one of the bravest of the members of Company F. of Gano's Regiment.

Suicide Near Millwood.

Mrs. James Layton cut her throat from ear to ear last night about 9 o'clock at her home near Millwood, a razor being her weapon. The awful deed is attributed to family troubles, as she had not been living happily with her husband for some time. He was absent at a party at the time.

She was a daughter of Mr. Lewis Bramel.

The Minstrels To night.

Cleveland's Consolidated Minstrels will be here to-night. They recently appeared at Grand Opera House in New York, and the Dramatic News says: "At least fifteen minutes before the curtain rose there was not a seat left. There were upheavals of applause and hurricanes of laughter. It was a red-letter day in minstrelsy. It was a long bill but none too long for the enthusiastic audience. These greatest burnt-cork comedians supplied the fun: Billy Emerson, Hughey Dougherty, John Queen, Marcus Doyle and Burt Sheppard. Those marvelous Japanese jugglers were also 'aggregated,' and gave a splendid finale to the show."

Here and There.

Miss Lottie Wood is visiting kinsfolk and friends in Washington and vicinity.

Mr. Frank C. McCasky, of the Vanceburg Sun, called on the BULLETIN yesterday.

Miss Turney, of Paris, is visiting her friend, Miss Lucy Durrett, near Washington.

Mrs. John T. Dye and daughter, of Indianapolis, are visiting Mr. John B. Holton, near Washington.

Rumor has it that Mr. Thomas Parry, of the Kansas City Journal, will shortly wed an accomplished young lady of that city.

Miss Hatie Owens, of "Crab Orchard Farm," is having a delightful visit at Council Bluffs, Iowa. She has met many ex-Kentuckians, among them a son of General Doniphan, who once commanded an expedition against the Mormons.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh G. Bowles have returned from Jacksonville, Fla. They report a delightful time there during the session of the Railway Ticket Agents' Association. The citizens of Jacksonville entertained their guests in royal style.

The funeral of Mr. S. S. Riley, yesterday afternoon, was largely attended, particularly by his Masonic brethren. Many Sir Knights from Flemingsburg, Manchester, Vanceburg, Portsmouth and elsewhere were present. The remains were followed to the grave by a big concourse of friends and relatives.

Although the advance in iron has increased the price of Stoves, we will offer our entire large stock of

They must go to make room for other goods. We are also showing the latest and best improved Cook Stoves and Wrought Steel Ranges ever offered in Maysville.

MARKET STREET.

McClanahan & Shea

STOVES, Mantels, Grates, Tinware.

TIN-ROOFING, GUTTERING, and SPOUTING.

JOB WORK OF ALL KINDS EXECUTED IN BEST MANNER

PURE DRUGS, WINES AND LIQUORS.

THOS. J. CHENOWETH'S

DRUG AND PRESCRIPTION STORE.

WE ARE NOW RECEIVING

OUR STOCK OF

SPRING DRESS GOODS

It will be found to contain all the newest weaves and colorings; also a new line of

White Goods, Linens and Embroideries,

which we are offering at our usual low prices. We also call attention to the following special job: Five thousand yards Indigo Prints, short lengths, at 5 cents per yard.

BROWNING & CO.

3 EAST SECOND STREET.

The Postoffice Drug Store!

You can always find a choice line of DRUGS at the Postoffice Drug Store. Also a fine line of Fancy Toilet Articles, and the best Perfumeries to be found in Maysville. Prescriptions a specialty, and carefully compounded at all hours.

POWER & REYNOLDS,

Cox Building (Adjoining Postoffice).

SPECIAL BARCAINS

MINER'S SHOE STORE

THIS WEEK.

THE LATEST NOVELTIES

HATS and NECKWEAR

NELSON'S.

The Last Chance to Buy Stoves Cheap.

HEATERS AT COST.

BIERBOWER & CO.

McClanahan & Shea

STOVES, Mantels, Grates, Tinware.

TIN-ROOFING, GUTTERING, and SPOUTING.

JOB WORK OF ALL KINDS EXECUTED IN BEST MANNER

PURE DRUGS, WINES AND LIQUORS.

THOS. J. CHENOWETH'S

DRUG AND PRESCRIPTION STORE.

WE ARE NOW RECEIVING

OUR STOCK OF

SPRING DRESS GOODS

It will be found to contain all the newest weaves and colorings; also a new line of

White Goods, Linens and Embroideries,

which we are offering at our usual low prices. We also call attention to the following special job: Five thousand yards Indigo Prints, short lengths, at 5 cents per yard.

BROWNING & CO.

3 EAST SECOND STREET.